STATEMENT:

I have been active in state government for 12 years, and have been involved in statewide public policy for three decades. I feel that I have the background and skills to represent the largest Senate District in the United States, consisting of 126 communities and encompassing 250,000 square miles. My wife and I live and work in rural Alaska and we raised our family of five children in Angoon. Education, transportation, electric power rates, fuel costs, and lack of public safety are the challenges that we face as rural residents. I've been a commercial fisherman, and I hunt and fish for food that I put on my family's table. For eight years I have represented my district in the House and I believe that experience will benefit my constituents in the Senate.

I have supported and voted for: Longevity Bonus, the Endowment for Power Cost Equalization (PCE), Deferred Maintenance for Schools, Increased Education Funding for Schools and the University of Alaska, and I also support funding for preventive programs in health such as the alcohol treatment. I have worked hard to allow for a vote of the people on the subsistence issue facing the State of Alaska. I do have a college degree from Alaska Methodist University and a Juris Doctorate of Law from the University of Washington. My wife Sally is a school-teacher for the Chatham School District in Angoon, which gives me a personal perspective of the Alaska School System.
